

FAQs: Misconduct Disclosure Requirements for Proposed Hires Under California SB 791 and AB 810

The below frequently asked questions (FAQs) aim to address common questions and concerns related to the misconduct disclosure requirement and institutional reference check under California SB 791 and AB 810, emphasizing the importance of maintaining a safe and professional environment at the University of California.

1. What is California SB 791 and AB 810?

Senate Bill (SB) 791 and Assembly Bill (AB) 810 are two bills that were signed into state law that add and amend sections 92612.1 and 92612.2 of the California Education Code, effective January 1, 2025 (reference California Senate Bill (SB) 791, Postsecondary education: academic and administrative employees: disclosure of sexual harassment; and California Assembly Bill (AB) 810, Postsecondary education: hiring practices: academic, athletic, and administrative positions).

California Education Code Sections 92612.1 and 92612.2 include the following requirements:

- Applicants who are identified as a finalist for an academic or administrative position to disclose any final administrative or judicial decisions issued within the last seven years related to misconduct, including sexual harassment, as defined in the statute.
- Permit finalists to disclose if they have filed an appeal with the previous employer, administrative agency, or court, if applicable.
- In the event the applicant reaches the final stages of the application process, the applicants for tenure-track/tenured appointments will be required to sign a release form that authorizes the release of information by the applicant's previous employers to the UC location concerning any substantiated allegations of misconduct. This authorization will permit the UC location to evaluate the released information with respect to the criteria for a potential appointment.
- The law requires the UC location to use the signed release form from applicants for tenure-track/tenured appointments to make a reasonable attempt to obtain information from the previous employer concerning any substantiated allegations of misconduct.

2. How do these new laws impact the UC?

In response, the University will implement these bills by:

- a. Requiring all proposed hires to disclose any final administrative or judicial decisions issued within the last seven years from the date of submission of an employment application determining that the proposed hire committed misconduct, including sexual harassment.
 - i. Proposed hires will also be permitted to disclose if they have filed an appeal with the previous employer, administrative agency, or court, if applicable.

- b. Requiring all proposed hires in the Professor series or Professor of Teaching series to sign a release form that authorizes the release of information by the proposed hire's previous employers to the UC location concerning any substantiated allegations of misconduct in order to permit the UC location to evaluate the released information with respect to the criteria for a potential job placement. The release form is required for all employees if the UC location wishes to follow-up with a prior employer.
- c. Requiring all locations to use the signed release form to make a reasonable attempt to obtain information from the previous employer concerning any substantiated allegations of misconduct for all proposed hires in the Professor series or Professor of Teaching series regardless of the proposed hire's responses in the misconduct disclosure questionnaire.

3. When is this effective?

The University of California is implementing SB 791 and AB 810 effective January 1, 2025. This means all academic recruitments opened on January 1, 2025, and thereafter, are subject to the misconduct disclosure requirements, and authorization release and prior employer follow-up where applicable.

Not all academic recruitments are processed within UC Recruit, such as search waivers and exemptions (e.g., volunteers). In those situations, effective January 1, 2025, all proposed hires are subject to the misconduct disclosure requirements, and authorization release and prior employer follow-up where applicable.

4. Why do we require this misconduct disclosure from all proposed hires?

Requiring this misconduct disclosure ensures a safe and respectful environment for all students, faculty, other academic appointees, and staff. It helps the institution identify individuals with a history of sexual harassment, thereby protecting the community and maintaining a professional and safe working and learning environment.

5. Who needs to comply with this requirement?

Proposed hires for academic or administrative positions at the University of California must comply with this requirement. This includes positions at all levels, ranks, and steps for all academic series appointees. At a minimum, the proposed hire will be required to submit the misconduct disclosure questionnaire. For some recruitments, this may be required earlier in the recruitment process (e.g., shortlist or interview stages).

a. Does this include volunteers and Contingent Workers (CWRs)?

Yes, a misconduct disclosure is required as part of onboarding volunteers and contingent workers.

b. Does this include reappointment in the same title series?

FAQs: Misconduct Disclosure Requirements for Proposed Hires Under California SB 791 and AB 810

No, the academic appointee is not required to disclose at the time of reappointment in the same academic series.

c. Does this include a change of series from one academic series to another at the same UC campus (i.e., postdoctoral scholar to assistant specialist)?

Yes, if the academic appointee was not previously required to disclose at the time of appointment in their previous academic series. However, shifts between TA and GSR appointments in the same hiring unit do not require a new misconduct disclosure.

d. Does this include moving from a WOS position to a paid position in the same series, for example, from an Adjunct WOS to a paid Adjunct?

Yes, if the academic appointee in the WOS position was not previously required to disclose at the time of appointment in the WOS title.

e. Does this include employees who are transferring from a different UC campus?

Yes.

f. Does this include FTE transfers within a UC campus? Can the UC require misconduct disclosure from a current UC employee as part of the new normal hiring process?

While not required by law, it is recommended that each hiring unit exercise their due diligence when hiring from even within the same campus. Hiring units can require misconduct disclosure from all proposed hires even if the proposed hire is a current UC employee. It will not be required for academic student employees.

6. What types of decisions need to be disclosed?

Proposed hires must disclose any violation of the policies or laws governing conduct at a candidate's previous place of employment, including, but not limited to, violations of policies or laws prohibiting sexual harassment, sexual assault, or other forms of harassment, discrimination, dishonesty, or unethical conduct as defined by the previous employer. This includes decisions from educational institutions, employers, courts, or other relevant bodies.

7. How recent must these decisions be to require misconduct disclosure?

Only decisions issued within the last seven years from the date of application submission need to be disclosed.

8. How does the candidate submit their misconduct disclosure? Who will see it?
