Recall of Academic Employees Policy and Procedures

Introduction

Recall appointments serve the essential academic needs and interests of the University by allowing campuses to employ retired academic appointees on renewable term appointments. These appointments are normally one year in length. Pre-retirement agreements allow for an appointment to be up to three years with the possibility of renewal thereafter.

Section A: General Policy

APM 205 is the university policy and procedure on Academic recall appointments. Also see the UCRP Factsheet "Returning to UC Employment After Retirement", APM 025 - Conflict of Commitment and Outside Faculty Activities, and APM 671 - Conflict of Commitment and Outside Activities of Health Sciences Compensation Plan Participants applies to faculty and Health Science Compensation Plan faculty.

Academic appointees who have retired from the University may be recalled to active service, for a term appointment. Recall may be for teaching, research and/or administrative service. Before a recall appointment begins a minimum 30-day break in service after the date of retirement is required, 90 days is preferred. Recall appointments may not exceed a total of 43 percent time per month, inclusive of all recall appointments at any UC campus. It is important for an individual to remain at 43 percent time, or below, in order to avoid suspension of retirement income and benefits from UCRP.

Recall appointments are normally one year or less but may be up to three years in the cases of pre-retirement agreements (initial appointment). Recall appointments are self-terminating on the end date. In cases where an academic is engaged in a long-term research project with secure funding, multi-year appointments will be considered.

Following a review, recall appointments may be renewed on an annual basis. Individuals who retire from the following titles are ineligible for recall under this policy:

- Clinical Professor-Volunteer series (see APM 279-20 regarding reappointment and non-renewal in this series)
- Senior Management Group without a concurrent academic appointment
- Paid staff

NOTE: Colleges/Schools have the authority to develop an internal procedure and compensation guideline for recall of academic appointees that is more restrictive than APM 205. These should be well documented and made available to the departments to ensure equitable and consistent treatment of all. A copy of the procedures should be sent to the Academic Personnel Office prior to implementation and at the beginning of each academic year. College’s/School’s procedures should be reviewed on an annual basis to ensure they comply with current policies.
Section B: Restrictions

Recall appointments may not exceed a total of 43 percent time per month, inclusive of all recall appointments at any UC campus.

Retired academic appointees may be recalled to faculty administrative titles, as described in APM 240, 241 and 246, for a term of one year or less subject to renewal on an annual basis.

Section C: Terms and Conditions of Employment

1. Pre-Retirement Recall Agreements
   Campus administrators may only make a pre-retirement recall agreement with academic appointees age 60 or older and who have five years of service credit (“UCRP normal retirement age”). Such an agreement may provide for a recall term of up to three academic years, with the possibility of annual renewal thereafter. Administrators may not discuss recall appointments with academic appointees who have not attained the UCRP normal retirement age.

2. Return to Service
   A recall appointment service date may occur no earlier than 30 days following the academic appointee’s retirement date.

3. Length of Recall Appointments
   Recall appointments are normally one year or less but may be up to three years in cases of pre-retirement agreements, or if faculty have active research grants with secured funding for the recall period. Recall appointments are term appointments for a specific period of time and expire on the end date with no further notice required.

4. Reappointment
   Following a review, recall appointments may be renewed on an annual basis.

5. Early Termination
   If the terms and conditions of the recall agreement are no longer applicable, the University may terminate a recall contract prior to the specified end date with a minimum of 30 days’ notice, or pay-in-lieu of notice for those who are compensated.

6. Complaints and Appeals
   Senate members may pursue their grievance rights under the terms of Senate Bylaw 335. Non-Senate faculty may pursue their grievance rights under the terms of APM - 140.

Section D: Approval Authority

1. The Vice Provost for Academic Personnel (VPAP) has approval authority on Pre-Retirement Recall Agreements using a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU).

2. Academic Deans have approval authority for standard academic recall appointments.
3. Any appointment in excess of 43 percent time per month and/or where the recall salary exceeds the base salary at the time of retirement will require approval from the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor in accordance with University policy.

4. In special circumstances, the President may approve a recall reappointment for up to five years. (See Regents Standing Order 103.6)

5. The Delegation of Authority Chart provides information on the final authority on academic review actions.

Section E: Salary

1. Academic appointees may be recalled to a compensated or a non-compensated appointment. Compensated appointments should be percentage-based.

2. The maximum salary rate for recall appointments (teaching, research, or other non-administrative duties) is the individual’s annual base salary rate (including any off-scale) for the academic position held at the time of retirement, range adjusted forward. (See formula below)

3. Additional compensation earned prior to retirement, including stipends, negotiated salary components, and summer salary, is not to be factored into the salary rate for recall appointments.

4. The salary for retired academic appointees recalled to faculty administrative titles (as described in APM - 240 - 241 and - 246) is a negotiated rate based on the nature and scope of the duties assigned, other comparable positions, and the relevant administrative experience of the individual.

5. Recalled academic appointees are ineligible for merit or promotion salary increases. See APM - 205 for salary rates for faculty retired from a Health Sciences School.

Formula for Maximum Allowable Monthly Salary Under Recall

The maximum salary rate for recall appointments that include teaching, research, or other non-administrative duties is the individual’s annual base salary rate (including any off-scale salary) for the academic position held at the time of retirement, range adjusted forward, then multiplied by 0.43.

Fiscal Year appointees

1. \( A \) [total base] + \( B \) [off-scale salary] = \( T \) [total salary at the time of retirement]
2. \( T \div 12 = M \) [monthly rate at 100%]
3. \( M \) [monthly rate at 100%] X 0.43 [maximum percent allowable under recall] = \( Z \) [maximum allowable monthly salary under recall]

For example, the maximum allowable monthly salary for a Professor – Fiscal Year, Step I, with a base salary of $92,900 and an off-scale salary of $7,100 for a total salary of $100,000 on recall would be $3,583.33:

- $100,000 (total base + off-scale salary) \div 12 = $8,333.33 (monthly rate at 100%)
- $8,333.33 (monthly rate at 100%) X 0.43 (maximum allowable percent under recall) = $3,583.33 (maximum allowable monthly salary under recall)
Academic Year appointees

1. \( A \text{ [total base]} + B \text{ [off-scale salary]} = T \text{ [total salary at the time of retirement]} \)
2. \( T ÷ 9 = M \text{ [monthly rate at 100%]} \)
3. \( M \text{ [monthly rate at 100%]} \times 0.43 \text{ [maximum percent allowable under recall]} = Z \text{ [maximum allowable monthly salary under recall]} \)

For example, the maximum allowable monthly salary for a Professor – Academic Year, Step I, with a base salary of $80,100 and an off-scale salary of $7,900 for a total salary of $88,000 on recall would be $4,204.45:
- \( $88,000 \text{ (total base + off-scale salary)} ÷ 9 = $9,777.78 \text{ (monthly rate at 100%)} \)
- \( $9,777.78 \text{ (monthly rate at 100%)} \times 0.43 \text{ (maximum allowable percent under recall)} = $4,204.45 \text{ (maximum allowable monthly salary under recall)} \)
